The Karnataka State Pollution Control Board has banned release of Vastu-unfriendly materials like steel, sand and cement, which is harmful to health. A meeting of the State Pollution Control Board was held on January 22. The board has ordered the state government to enact the rules to ban such construction materials. The mandatory filings of the Buildings Department will also have to follow the new guidelines. A previous order was only applicable to districts falling under the Bengaluru Zone of the Board. Addressing the board, Principal Secretary, Ministry of Environment, Forest and Climate Change, K. Keshava said that since the new building materials have been banned, the former rules won't apply. According to the new rules, construction material, mining operations, etc. will be banned in the areas falling under the Urban Development Division of the building department. The ban will be implemented for district councils and municipal corporations. The state government will determine where the new ban will come into force. Earlier, the State Pollution Control Board used to issue terms of orders for district councils and municipal corporations.
